

S. C. C. Daily Report, September 4, 1945
Women and War Guilt

In another antifascist broadcast concerning the culpability of Germans in connection with war crimes, Berlin discusses the part taken by women during the war and points out that women should not think of themselves as being excluded. Nazism always strove for the support of German women, and women, too, are responsible for Nazi misdeeds. "It is right that women should show responsibility and do their part in the reconstruction."